

The effects of Tropical Storm Irene continue to be felt around Vermont. Daily there are new sites where our infrastructure has failed. Extreme caution must be used in travelling any of the roads in the affected areas as road conditions continue to change.